

In Cooperation with the Society for Philosophy and Technology (www.spt.org), the IEEE Society for the Social Implications of Technology (www.ieeessit.org), the Liberal Education Division (here) & Technological Literacy Constituent Committee of ASEE (here), the International Network for Engineering Studies (www.inesweb.org), & the Engineering Philosophy Committee of the Structural Engineering Institute (SEI) of the ASCE (here)

fPET-2010

2010 Forum on Philosophy, Engineering & Technology

Colorado School of Mines
Golden, Colorado USA
9-10 May 2010 (Sunday Evening-Monday)
www.philengtech.org

Call for Participation

Keynote Speaker: Steven Goldman, Lehigh University

Lunchtime Plenary Speaker: Anu Ramaswami, University of Colorado, Denver

fPET-2010: The 2010 Forum on Philosophy, Engineering & Technology (fPET-2010) is an outgrowth of the Workshop on Philosophy and Engineering (WPE-2007 in Delft and WPE-2008 in London). The mission of the Forum is (1) to encourage reflection on engineering, engineers, and technology by philosophers and engineers alike and (2) to build bridges between existing organizations of philosophers and of engineers. fPET-2010 will be held as an intensive one-day meeting on 9-10 May 2010 (Sunday evening-Monday) at the Colorado School of Mines in Golden, CO.

Program highlights: 1 keynote talk, 1 plenary lunchtime talk, 57 contributed papers, opening and closing receptions. Program details at www.philengtech.org. Receptions, coffee breaks, lunch, abstract booklet & access to all talks and sessions included in registration fee.

Steering committee: Richard Evans (Cornell), Kenneth R. Foster (Pennsylvania), David E. Goldberg (Illinois), Domenico Grasso (Vermont), Rachele Hollander (National Academy of Engineering), Diane P. Michelfelder (Macalester College), Carl Mitcham (Colorado School of Mines), Mike Murphy (Dublin Institute of Technology), Joseph Pitt (Virginia Tech), Ibo van de Poel (TUDelft), Jon A. Schmidt (Burns & McDonnell) & Cherrice Traver (Union College)

Program committee:

Stephen C. Armstrong, AMGI-Bywater
Caroline Baillie, University of Western Australia
Mark Bedau, Reed College and Protolife
Sarah Bell, University College London
Louis Bucciarelli, MIT
Philip Chmielewski, Loyola Marymount University
Steen Hyltdgaard Christensen, Aarhus University
Michael Davis, Illinois Institute of Technology
Darryl Farber, Pennsylvania State University
Jun Fudano, Kanazawa Institute of Technology
Dennis Gedge, Consulting Engineer
Steven L. Goldman, Lehigh University
Alastair Gunn, University of Waikato
Deborah G. Johnson, University of Virginia
Sherra E. Kerns, Franklin W. Olin College of Engineering
Billy V. Koen, The University of Texas at Austin

Russell Korte, University of Illinois
Peter Kroes, TUDelft
Michael C. Loui, University of Illinois
Bryon Newberry, Baylor University
Steven P. Nichols, The University of Texas at Austin
Ibo van de Poel, TUDelft
Hans Poser, TUBerlin
Donna M. Rizzo, University of Vermont
Viola Schiaffonati, Politecnico di Milano
Jon A. Schmidt, Burns & McDonnell
Peter Simons, Trinity College Dublin
Karl A. Smith, University of Minnesota and Purdue U.
Mark Somerville, Franklin W. Olin College of Engineering
John P. Sullins, Sonoma State University
Herman T. Tavani, Rivier College
Pieter Vermaas, TUDelft

Forum Co-Chairs: David E. Goldberg (deg@illinois.edu) & Diane P. Michelfelder (michelfelder@macalester.edu)

Local Arrangements: Carl Mitcham (mitcham@mines.edu); Web & Technology: Xavier Llorà (xllora@illinois.edu)

Registration is Limited, Register Today
www.philengtech.org